The final contract in the $3 million program was signed last week with George Consolidated of Texas in the amount of $97,890.75 for installation of 2,200 additional water meters.

ACP SEEKS TO CORRECT SOURCE OF SOIL LAND
The Agricultural Conservation Program is used more and more as a conservation "rifle" to zero in on target areas of soil erosion and sedimentation, according to Tommy R. Shaw, Chairman of the Hancock Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee.

ACP is the national program that encourages conservation by sharing the cost of conservation measures farmers carry out on their land. The program is available to all farmers and ranchers. It is administered in the field by farmer-elected committeemen, through county offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

While ACP has been and continues to be used to encourage many types of needed conservation of soil, water, woodlands, and wildlife — the chairman said that there is a growing desire to direct the available assistance at the end results.

Each year, sediment from our farmlands is washed into the nation's streams and reservoirs, reducing reservoir storage capacity, clogging highway and drainage ditches, muddying and filling lakes and stream channels, and causing increased flooding.

In most counties, there are specific places that are the source of much of the sediment-load that washes off farm or range land and into the streams every time it rains. These are critical areas which cause much of the trouble.

And, in most cases, the areas can be identified — many have been pinpointed over the years by local conservationists and farmer-committeemen.

Now, ASC would like to help farmers take the next logical step. That's to use needed ACP cost-sharing on practices that control and correct such situations. Special efforts are made to encourage farmers to establish buffer strips and field plantings of protective cover on critical areas of their land.

By attacking and correcting the source of erosion, farm and city people alike benefit directly.

The answer. One of the fishermen who were not caught, said that the amount of crabs there must be another one who was caught one week ago. That's nothing new. August and September are the best months for stringrays. He said this is the mating season and they are in close to each other. You can't see them. That's a stingray strikes when stepped upon. That the meat under the stingray is good. We part they can have the play.

They heard of any frogs. There are plenty of the banks of our rivers but fishermen to have gotten the habit of going after stringrays are delicious as a delicacy. It's a lot of fun having.

One of 10 local fishermen trip on the "Captain" a charter boat which went down Cayley Tuesday and Wednesday. The trip was to "The Flares" and a lot of speckles and white. They caught. Make up a lot have some fun.

They were employed at the way he loves to fish and around to it soon. There was around here Charlie.

Something new for light. A barbecue pit. It is "Litter." When the lights the Charcoal. It makes barbecue.

fishermen and expect to do a lot of it from now on.

Things should pick up at Pass Christian Lake Golf Club with the approach of cooler weather soon. Both the men and women golfers are looking forward to some important events scheduled for the near future.

The tournament committee, J. S. Ray Wilson, chairman, reports the following activities for the month of August:

Club Championship — qualifying round, August 7-15.

Junior Tournament — was held August 13. There were flights for all.

Members will receive shortly by mail, a copy of the new Rules and Regulations, as proposed by the Board of Directors. These are to be ratified by the stockholders at the meeting in September.

FCISCO Invitational, practice round, October 16 and 17. A supper was served on Saturday, August 14. As usual a good supper was enjoyed and a swell time was had by all.

Retiring on completion of their terms on the Board of Directors were Col. Henry Anderson, Sydney Frague, Norman Renshaw and Jules Soule. All have taken a most active part in the club during their tenure in office and are due special thanks for their services from the membership at large.

The new Board assembled recently and unanimously elected these officers for 1965-66. President and chairman of the Board; Max Doss; Vice President, J. W. Waggoner; Sec'y, Will Clardy and James R. Shadoin, treasurer.

The fishermen who puts his tackle away just because dog days have arrived may be missing some of the most exciting sport of the year. That's the message from Dick Kotis, fishing expert from Arbogast.

"The secret of success during dog days," Kotis reveals, "is to go out at night."

This advice makes good sense. Many of America's best game fish—largemouth and smallmouth bass, walleyes, brown trout, channel catfish—tend to be nocturnal anyway. And through the heat of the summer, they do nearly all of their feeding after dark—and after too many fishermen have gone home.

But how do you fish after dark? "For bass," replies Kotis, "use surface plugs in the same places you are likely to find bass early in the season."

Cast your topwater lure along shallow shorelines or beside weed beds. And never neglect to toss your topwater lure around boat docks, piers and pilings. During the hours of darkness this is like playing with dynamite.

Fishing at night is also a pleasant way to "escape." Skiers and speedboaters have retreated to dry land and the waters belong exclusively to fishermen. An angler can relax, light up a pipe and maybe sip a cool drink as he casts into the unknown. Next thing he knows, a lunker bass will be cavorting on the end of his line. That's really living, brother.

One good idea fishermen could borrow from seasoned campers is to start their trips by scanning a checklist to see what they're forgetting. Most of us mar fishing

HONOR BRIDGE-ELECT WITH LINEN SHOWER

Mrs. Guy Bufkin, Joe Church and Edward Heitzmann entertained at a linen shower Sunday afternoon at the Bufkin home honoring Miss Patricia Rosato, bride-elect of Dwight Snyder.

The table was covered with a lace cloth, and decorated with flowers and fern. The gifts were presented in a wishing well decorated with net and pink flowers. Games were played with Mrs. Paul Cox and Mrs. Gilbert Gayatt winning prizes.

The honoree, who was presented a corsage of miniature kitchen utensils, wore a pale yellow print tulle dress. Her mother, Mrs. Santo Rosato, also was presented a corsage.

Miss Rosato was honored with a linen shower recently in New Orleans with Mrs. John Lang and Mrs. Phillip Culotta as hostesses and a miscellaneous shower given by Misses Pat Paretti, Corliss Hoffmann and Judy Faciane.

LOS ANGELES RIOTS ARE DISGRACE AND MOST UNFORTUNATE

The race riots in Los Angeles and Chicago are most unfortunate. The innocent victims of the acts of terror and destruction committed there have the sympathy of people in all sections of the Nation, particularly the South.

These bloody riots that began with demonstrations and erupted into violence and mass murder did not come without warning.

For months, accusing fingers have been pointed at the South, where marches and violence occurred as part of the hysterical crusade for more rights.

Grave warnings were repeatedly sounded and predictions were made by those who tried to stop these riots and marches, that other parts of the nation would feel the bitter effects of racial violence unless some control was placed on the irresponsible mobs and their leaders who sought more rights without regard for the rights of others.

Following were excerpts from a speech I made on the Senate floor on May 25, 1965:

"I am not happy to make the statement I am about to make to Senators from other parts of the country, but I am satisfied in my mind, based upon what I have observed and my understanding of the background of various groups of people, that somewhere, at some time, and in some manner, provisions will have to be made effectively to deal with situations that will arise in parts of the country outside the South, and on other subjects.

"I say to Senators from other areas of the country that the South, 'Your time will come.' I do not desire to bring bad news to anyone, but as certain as night follows day, the present trouble will spill over in a large way into the housing question.

"Mr. President, again I say to Senators from other parts of the country that the South, 'Your time will come.'

"I say again, 'Your time will come.' 'No group, it makes no difference what their color, should be allowed full leeway to demonstrate. That practice should be stopped.

"In my part of the country, where we have special problems, there is no help, or whatever help is provided does not come in time."

NASA News..

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. — Dr. Werner von Braun, director of the Marshall Center, expressed his appreciation to all employees at the NASA-Marshall Space Flight Center here for their efforts in the highly successful Saturn I rocket program.

"I want to offer my heartfelt congratulations," he said, "to you on the success of the Saturn I and the three Pegasus payloads. You accepted the responsibility for the pioneering development effort, and you deserve the highest praise for its success."

Dr. von Braun, director of the Marshall Center, asked several hundred gathered in the auditorium of the Central Laboratory and Office Building to carry his message back to others in their organizations who were unable to attend the gathering.

"What you have done reflects the ability of our nation to move forward quickly. The Saturn I proved that we were correct in our heavy duty launch vehicle theories," he said.

"One of the most important products of our Saturn I program is the fact that we have built up confidence — both self-confidence and the trust of the American people who are depending upon us for American progress in space exploration."

The MSCF director also discussed the recent decision to transfer 200 personnel spaces to the NASA-Manned Spacecraft Center at Houston. He said the transfer was of "spaces" and that determination of the actual number of persons who will go to Houston depends on discussions with individuals.

Efforts to obtain more spaces to cope with the greatly increased workload at MSCF were unsuccessful, he said, and NASA was told to look within its own house for the spaces. Of the some 30,000 personnel employed by NASA, 200 spaces were decided on as the Marshall Center's contribution.

"We will not deplete our capability, technical or otherwise, to carry out current and future MSCF roles in space programs," Dr. von Braun said.

The space scientist said discussions are still in process to decide on the best method of implementing the transfer of spaces. "As soon as decisions can be reached and further information is available, you will receive it through your organizations," he told assembled employees.

The Marshall Center director closed his speech with the announcement that authority has been received to make some 370 promotions covering the entire spectrum at MSCF, administrative and professional as well as technical positions.

HAVE FUN... SAFELY

An article in the Bell Tel News told how to have fun safely. Whatever activities you have planned for your family during the remaining summer and Labor Day ahead, be sure personal safety is included among them. At home, on the road, in the water, outdoor Mississippi offers plenty of opportunity for fun, sun and relaxation. But, whether you decide to work in the garden, fix up the house, have a neighborhood cookout, or take the family off for a weekend at the lake or Gulf Coast or just out for a family drive around the countryside, accidents can happen. Just one moment of carelessness is all it takes to end the fun you're having, and perhaps your life. So have fun, but be careful, play it safe, and stay alive in 1965.

BUSINESS TAXPAYERS INFORMATION ABOUT TAX FORM 720

Business taxpayers who file Form 720 have been notified of those items which are no longer subject to excise taxes. J. G. Martin, Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue for Mississippi said today.

Mr. Martin noted that temporary regulations permit automatic extensions of time to October 31, 1965, for certain taxpayers who are subject to manufacturers excise taxes.

Taxpayers who file returns for the second quarter and do not expect to be liable for other excise taxes in the future should so indicate by placing the notation "final return" on Form 720.

Generally, Martin added, any Form 720 not marked "final return" will be continued on the business master file. This will result in taxpayers receiving a delinquency notice for the third quarter.

In the event a taxpayer has failed to indicate the return as final, future Forms 720 received should be marked "final return" to notify the Service that he is no longer required to file Form 720.

NOTABLE ACHIEVEMENTS IN HEALTH FOR MISSISSIPPI

Worthy of special attention are highlights of biennial achievements in the field of public health summarized by the State Health Officer, Dr. A. L. Gray, for the 1963-64 period. Dental health services were expanded to include treatment for needy school children on a matching basis. A state plan for emergency health services has been developed, filling one of the major gaps in Mississippi's preparedness in event of a natural or man-made catastrophe. Early cancer detection received a boost by the initiation of an oral cancer program in cooperation with dentists of the State. Family planning services increased from small programs in selected counties to cover almost every county in Mississippi. Immunization reached an all-time high as the vaccination assistance project got underway. These are merely some of the many ways the State Board of Health and county affiliates are working tirelessly and effectively in behalf of the people.

AGENTS NOTES

Extensive Home Knowledge

When you hang your clothes in the closet, do you have to rummage in between other garments? Are they wrinkled and crumpled when you take them out of the closet?

If you find a "new" suit to wear away any out-of-season clothes. If you find things you haven't worn in over a year, chances are you probably won't wear them again. If it's impossible to rectify these garments, why not give them to the next rummage sale?

Once you get the "extras" out of the way, you can begin to organize your closet for more efficient use. "A place for everything and everything in its place" is the key to a well organized wardrobe.

Multiple skirt hangers are a great space saver. Another good trick is to hang all like garments together. The space under a row of blouses can easily hold a small bureau to make an excellent covered storage chest for sweaters, bags and hats.

USE DISHWASHING DETERGENT

To operate successfully, your dishwasher depends on very hot water, a suitable detergent and the striking force of the water. Your laundry detergent should not be used in your dishwasher. Even a low-sudsing laundry detergent generates some suds that cushion the striking force of the water, thereby hindering satisfactory performance.

Because dishwasher detergents do not normally touch hands or skin, they can be much stronger than laundry detergents, and are therefore more capable of removing food stains.

LOW CALORIE PEANUTS

Yes, scientists are working on processing a peanut that contains 75 percent fewer calories, yet retains its good flavor and high protein content. Through a simple process they are pressing 80 percent of the oil from the peanuts.

To do this they put shelled peanuts into a hydraulic press to remove most of the oil. The pressed nuts become flat and misshapen, but return to their original shape and size when soaked in water. Salt, sugar and other flavoring can be added during soaking. After nuts are dried, they are ready for eating.

Several manufacturers are now studying the possibilities of retailing this product developed by USDA scientists.

It's better to catch food drips before they reach the oven floor. Make it a habit to place a cookie sheet or strip of foil under pies and casseroles to catch juices and sauces that bubble over.

QUANDARY

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are:
(1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his children. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4)
For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday
Deuteronomy 4:1-14	Jeremiah 10:1-10	Matthew 11:25-30	1 Corinthians 13:1-13	Epistle 4:7-16	Colossians 2:16-19	II Peter 3:14-18

Would you like to be as young as she is? Would you like to wake up tomorrow and find yourself standing in a field of Queen Anne's lace, with the summer breeze blowing and fleecy white clouds sailing overhead?

Would you really like to be as young as she is?
If you've been measuring up to life, the answer should be no. Naturally, you can look at her with nostalgia. But think of the lessons she has yet to learn — lessons you learned long ago. Add up your experiences, both good and bad, which wouldn't be yours were you to revert to youth. The total should make you glad that you are exactly the age you are.

If you aren't—something's missing. Somewhere, you've gotten off the track. In this case, you don't need to return to childhood. You need, rather, a new approach to adulthood, a new grasp, a new understanding. Start finding it now . . . in the church of your choice.

CAMP SHELBY HAS RECORD BREAKING YEAR

Camp Shelby has just completed another record breaking year for Annual Field Training. This year three encampments were held for the Alabama National Guard Non-divisional units; The 31st Infantry "Dixie" Division consisting of Guardsmen from Mississippi and Alabama and the Non-divisional units of the Mississippi Guard. During the three encampments the giant 83,000 acre training site was host to over 17,000 Guardsmen from the two states. And is an increase of 5,000 more than have trained here in a single year since World War II when the largest tent city in the world was the home of over 100,000 soldiers.

The total payroll for the six weeks was almost 3 million dollars. Other money spent to support the three encampments include: General Camp operations for labor, utilities, etc. $165,000.00; gasoline, oil and lubricants, $68,000.00; Miscellaneous supplies and services which include 1,082,000 pounds of ice; commercial travel and transportation cost of officers and enlisted personnel $10,500.00.

The second largest expenditure for this period was $280,000 for food for 945,000 meals. This includes 38,000 dozen eggs; 99,850 six ounce cups of ice cream; 382,000 1/2 pints of milk; 78,500 loaves of bread; 681,000 pounds of perishable rations trucked in and 6 box car loads of non-perishable rations shipped by rail.

TRAINING

All unit commanders agree that this year they received better training than in any previous year. Engineers completed their assigned construction projects, Infantrymen ran assault and defensive problems, artillery units fired all their big guns and Howitzers, Medics received realistic training and tank units fired all ten of their gunnery exercises.

For the first time in the Mississippi Guard, the Military Police of the 11th MP Battalion went to the field and trained as infantrymen as well as providing the law enforcement and criminal investigation.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

The transportation training area has been re-designated as an Armored Division Training Center. This means that an additional fifty percent increase in the number of buildings originally planned will be built. When completed, the Post will be able to house 12,000 men without the use of the old tent area.

Each unit was graded daily by selected Active Army Evaluators. They observed every phase of training and compared the Guard units to their Active Army counterparts. This year the grades or evaluations were higher than had ever been received by Guardsmen. During the final encampment, every Mississippi Non-divisional unit was rated superior.

NEXT YEAR

The Adjutant General, Major General Walter G. Johnson has received inquiries about the use of Camp Shelby from several neighboring states. It is not inconceivable that in the near future, Camp Shelby could double or even triple the number of Guardsmen that trained here this year.

The new role of this massive training area has been re-designated as an Armored Division Training Center. This means that an additional fifty percent increase in the number of buildings originally planned will be built. When completed, the Post will be able to house 12,000 men without the use of the old tent area.

FOOD STAMP PROGRAM AIDS NEARLY 4,000 MISSISSIPPIANS

ATLANTA, Ga. — The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that the Mississippi Department of Public Welfare issued USDA food stamp coupons to nearly 3,992 needy persons in two Mississippi counties during July.

The new food program, which was inaugurated July 1 in Harrison and Jones counties, will be expanded to four more Mississippi counties — Chickasaw and Lowndes on September 1, and Coahoma and Madison on October 1.

The food coupon recipients, from 1,257 low-income households in Harrison and Jones counties, was issued $55,839 worth of the food coupons in July. Of this amount, the participating families bought $27,861 worth and received $27,778 worth free of charge. The free coupons help the recipients buy more and better food at local stores.

USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service says the food stamp program put more than $27,000 into the economy of the two counties during July — $18,000 into Jones County and $9,000 into Harrison County.

Food coupons were issued to 2,492 persons from 796 families in Jones County and 1,50 persons from 461 families in Harrison County.

The coupons can be spent like cash for any American produced food at any of the food stores authorized by the Consumer and Marketing Service. There are 120 authorized retailers in Jones County and 98 in Harrison County.

The USDA food stamp program has two basic purposes: Safeguarding the health of the nation's low-income families through better nutrition, and increasing the flow of food from the nation's farms through normal trade channels.

Mississippi Junior Colleges with an estimated enrollment of 15,000 students offer educational opportunities in four major areas: Pre-professional, technical, vocational, and adult education. The technical and vocational curricula are directed to meet the needs of industry by training students for immediate employment and by re-training and upgrading personnel presently employed.

STATE-WIDE P-TA SAFETY CONFERENCE JACKSON SEPT. 22

"The increasing hazards to the safety of our children in every Mississippi community makes it imperative that parents and teachers learn as much as possible of the ways of eliminating dangers," said Assistant Chief L. V. Warren, safety chairman of the Mississippi Congress of Parents and Teachers, at a meeting of his committee in Jackson this week.

The MCPT Safety Committee evolved plans for a state-wide Safety Conference, September 22, at the Hotel Heidelberg in Jackson. Safety chairmen and presidents of almost four hundred PTA units in Mississippi will be invited for one day of instruction and demonstration by state and local authorities. Hazards of fire, explosives, poisons, traffic, and many other sources will be discussed with methods for promoting safety practices in home, school and community.

"Many of our PTA workers recognize the need for concerted action against the dangers to our children but need the ammunition of facts, methods and proper procedure to take this action," further pointed out Chief Warren. "Such a conference as we propose will give enough push to local PTA workers to set up an effective safety program for their schools for the '65-'66 school year. And, we will be adding more emphasis to the Stay Alive '68 program."

KHAYAT TO SPEAK AT NATIONAL 4-H ALL-STAR CONGRESS

Mr. Edward A. Khayat, Director of the Mississippi Association of Supervisors, has been invited to address the National 4-H All-Star Congress at Washington, D. C. on the morning of August 21, 1965.

Several hundred young people from all over the nation will be in attendance. Mr. Khayat will be the subject of "The New South and Its Contribution to Economic Welfare of the United States of America."

He will more particularly stress Mississippi's contribution to national economy. He will use a positive and aggressive approach which Mississippi has used to develop such resources as forestry, oil, gas, water and agriculture in bringing a new horizon to Mississippi and the South as they both make their way into the concept of a prosperous national economy.

Mr. Khayat said that for too long has the South been looked upon as the scape goat of the nation. He said that industrialists and leaders of the nation are beginning to realize the tremendous importance of the people and the natural resources of the South in helping America retain its position as the greatest nation in the world.
